

HELP SAVE 920 MISSOURI STREET

The lovely century-old home located at 920 Missouri Street is slated for demolition on October 19. The Oread Neighborhood is losing its architectural gems rapidly and this home is one of the few remaining on the 900 block of Missouri. The new owners (Joe and Gina Keating) intend to tear it down and build a duplex with 8 bedrooms for rent. Please sign below if you would like to help prevent the demolition of this home and preserve the neighborhood.

If a historic building CAN be saved, it is our duty to save it. This is our history. This is what future generations will look at to understand where they have come from. Tearing apart history is robbing future generations of that sense of connection to their past.

A glance at the duplex at 916 Missouri shows what a shame it would be to replace this venerable house with the like. The 920 house has been allowed to deteriorate, a common ploy to excuse demolition. Everyone except the Keatings will be the poorer if this house is torn down instead of getting a little TLC.

I love old homes. Sometimes I wonder, when a house has stood through the Great Depression, two world wars, and countless other historical events, why would anyone think this should be the year to tear it down, especially for the sake of something altogether common, dull, and unnecessary? Profit shouldn't be the leading interest in a great community like Lawrence. We are more and better than that.

I love old homes, old building, walking sidewalks & alleys looking for architectural details I had not previously noticed. I love feeling connected to the history of our community. I love the opportunities for talking with neighbors who are enjoying time on their porches or are also walking - perhaps to downtown or up to campus. When we lose old buildings, they are gone forever, and we lose parts of who we are as a community. And when our community already has a huge amount of vacant property, commercial and residential, for sale and for rent, we clearly do not need more new bedrooms.

The main reason I moved to Lawrence from the east coast many years ago, was for it's preserved charm. We do NOT need anymore apartment complexes. We have plenty. What Lawrence needs is a stronger historic preservation ordanence, or there will be less people choosing to move to this charming town.

I live in the neighborhood. Why can't zoning protect this property?

This is inconsistent with the integrity of the neighborhood and is hurtful to the neighbors on this block.
